More Than Meets The Eye
FRANKLIN COLLEGE ANNUAL REPORT 2011–12
Dear Alumni and Friends,

It is a pleasure to present the 2011-12 Annual Report. As we reflect upon the past fiscal year, I am very proud of the achievements made by our college community. Thanks to the dedication, hard work and leadership of our board of trustees, faculty and staff, Franklin is well-positioned for a strong and vibrant future, one in which the college continues to deliver on its mission of providing an exceptional liberal arts education to our students.

Highlights of the past fiscal year include successful completion of The Future Unfolds Campaign, Phase One. During the campaign, the college raised more than $5.8 million in private donations in 26 months, completing the impressive 78-acre Grizzly Park athletics complex. The expansive venue raises the standard by which the college always has operated, supporting our liberal arts emphasis on students’ development of sound minds and bodies. With approximately 30 percent of the current student body participating in our athletics programs, Grizzly Park is an important tool for student retention and recruitment. We are very proud of the impact this facility has made on our campus community and our neighbors in a short time.

Following on the heels of a successful Phase One, the board revisited the Campus Master Plan and consulted with an external consultant for assistance in setting the college’s Phase Two priority. Thus, we are excited that groundwork is being laid for a new day in science at Franklin College.

Building on the college’s traditionally strong biology, chemistry and pre-medical programs, we are exploring additional ways to help Franklin students play a leading role in 21st century scientific achievements and economic growth. You’ll continue reading and hearing about our exciting plans for Franklin science students in the months ahead.

In the meantime, we offer a glimpse of the fiscal year in review. On Pages 20 and 21, you’ll find a timeline of noteworthy institutional and individual achievements, including mention of faculty members who earned regional and national accolades for excellence in teaching, for researching and writing groundbreaking literature on spirituality and for creating striking contemporary art. Equally impressive are several Franklin students, including one who joined the nation’s ranks of top scorers in math achievement and another who advanced to the final 10 for a national service award. The timeline, of course, only covers a sampling of the significant work and achievements that take place at Franklin College every day. There is, indeed, more going on than meets the eye.

As we build upon our many accomplishments across campus and in the community, we thank you for your continued support of Franklin College and our students. Your support truly energizes our college community, ensures our future success and allows us to prepare an increasing number of students for in-demand careers and enriched lives.

Sincerely,

Susan Johnson DeVoss ’65
Dear Alumni and Friends,

Franklin College is much like an extraordinary painting—the closer you look, the more it reveals. The canvas of our beautiful campus is dynamic and always evolving with our students.

Take a glimpse today and you’ll see Grizzly Park, our new athletics complex designed to meet the healthy lifestyle needs of our active campus population, a renovated art studio that beautifully accommodates our steadily growing population of arts majors and a reconfigured library that simplifies access to academic resources and better accommodates the ways students study today.

Take another glance and you’ll realize important work also is happening behind the scenes, where the science faculty recently collaborated to reinvent the curriculum. Building upon Franklin’s traditionally strong programs, the new curriculum introduces more opportunities for student research in biology and chemistry to position graduates more competitively in the 21st century workforce.

These recent achievements bring Franklin’s promise into sharper focus, reinvigorating our commitment to the young people who enroll here for a distinctive liberal arts experience.

Observers will tell you our greatest strength is the people who bring life to the classrooms, organizations, teams and programs that make the Franklin experience significant for students. Our collaborative and caring environment includes professors and coaches who find just the right way to inspire students to give their best and get better. Our supportive approach carries over to administrative and support staff who cultivate relationships and resources to help students finance their educations, develop their career skills and advance their dreams. Our commitment continues with the physical facility, dining service and security staff members whose attention to detail provides students a welcoming, safe and beautiful home away from home.

Franklin’s student-centered culture also extends beyond the campus landscape through the participation of alumni and friends. Your involvement and generosity make funds possible for student scholarships, faculty recruitment and retention, facility improvements and cultural enrichment programs, all of which shape and add value to the Franklin liberal arts experience.

The significance of the Franklin experience often becomes clearer after graduation, when young people who are immersed in the “real world” fully realize the impact of their liberal arts preparation. For some alumni, there’s gratitude for a professor who urged exploration of graduate school. For others, it’s appreciation for an adviser who wholeheartedly supported a service-learning project or the recollection of a guest speaker whose words were empowering.

No matter the story, I’m always delighted and proud when alumni share those “ah-ha” moments that recount how Franklin’s emphasis on independent thinking, responsible leadership and clear communication came together in service to their professions, their communities and the world. Every story reaffirms the important role of relationships between the, students, alumni, employees and friends of Franklin College.

As you turn through the pages of this Annual Report, I hope you’ll take a close look at the donor lists, perhaps even locate your own name. As you do, please know how deeply grateful Franklin College is for your loyal support and involvement. Thank you very much for collaborating in the lives of students and sharing our vision for an even brighter future.

Sincerely,

Jay Moseley
Franklin College President

Franklin College publicly announced an accomplishment virtually unheard of in the field of educational fundraising — 100 percent donor participation among the 62 full-time faculty members. Every member made a gift to the Franklin Fund during the fiscal year.

David Cunningham, assistant professor of fine arts, earned the 67th Annual Wabash Valley Juried Exhibition’s Award of Excellence for his acrylic and oil painting, In the Heart of Darkness We Find The Truth. His work was selected over 300 other submissions.

August '11

For the 11th consecutive year, new student orientation included a day of volunteerism known as FOCUS, Franklin Offering the Community Unselfish Service. Approximately 400 new students, faculty members and upper-class student-leaders became acquainted while engaging in service projects at 26 Johnson County nonprofit organizations. FOCUS Day introduces new students to a key aspect of the Franklin mission and experience.

Bonnie Pribush, director of leadership development, collaborated with Keri Ellington, director of student activities, in creating and instructing a first-ever credit-hour course for student-organization presidents, treasurers and influencers. The Leadership Academy accepted 18 student-applicants, who committed to honing their personal skills, swapping best practices and mentoring one another to help strengthen the campus community.

September '11

EARTH Club members presented Franklin College greening initiative data during U.S. Sen. Richard G. Lugar’s Collegiate Energy Summit in Indianapolis. Franklin was one of only three colleges invited to participate.

October '11

Monks from the Labrang Tashi Kyil Monastery, one of the world’s six main centers of Tibetan Buddhist learning, visited Franklin College during a goodwill mission to spread information about their culture and teachings on compassion. The monks spent several days creating a sand mandala, which they gifted to the college.

The college dedicated Grizzly Park athletics complex during a ribbon-cutting ceremony coinciding with Homecoming. The $5.8 million complex was funded entirely with private donations and was named by Margot Lacy Eccles, a late college trustee.

The women’s golf team captured its 12th league title, winning the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference championship at Eagle Rock Golf Club in Ohio. The team finished with a two-day total of 676.

November '11

Matt Brems ‘13 earned a perfect score on the major field test in mathematics. The national average, among 11,294 students, was 156 on a scale of 200. Brems joins two other Franklin students on record with perfect scores, Stacy (Roe) Roth ’06 and Andrew Newman ‘11.

The Grizzlies defeated the Hanover Panthers for the seventh consecutive year during a battle for the Victory Bell trophy. The final score at L.S. Ayres Field was 40-15. Later in the month, Team Griz advanced to the second round of NCAA Division III playoffs, eventually losing to Wisconsin-Whitewater.

A website featuring political coverage by Franklin College journalism students working in the college’s Statehouse Bureau launched, providing free access to news for anyone with a college e-mail address and offering subscriptions to others. The funds generated from www.thestatehousefile.com underwrite student scholarships.

December '11

The Library Journal named philosophy and religion professor David Carlson’s book Peace Be with You: Monastic Wisdom for a Terror-Filled World one of the best self-help/spiritual living books of the year. The book shares more than 50 interviews Carlson conducted with abbots, nuns and monks whose wisdom reveals a new yet ancient basis for genuine peace between Christianity and other religions, especially Islam.
January ’11
During the Winter Term 58 students traveled beyond the gates of Franklin College, combining international travel with academic opportunity. The students spent two weeks learning about the history and culture of their destinations before heading with faculty and staff chaperones to England, Guatemala, Ireland, Japan and Senegal.

Franklin College received a gift of $4.2 million following settlement of the Effie Joan Behrens estate. Behrens had been a Franklin College trustee since 1991 and, in accordance with her wishes, 75 percent of her gift was allocated to the college endowment for student scholarships and church relations. The board of trustees followed institutional policy and directed the remaining 25 percent of unrestricted funds to the college’s most urgent need: The Future Unfolds capital campaign.

February ’11
The Franklin College Board of Trustees announced Phase One goals of The Future Unfolds capital campaign were met, with the college raising more than $5.8 million in 26 months.

Franklin’s intercollegiate athletics program expanded with the launch of a women’s lacrosse club. Plans are in place to develop the club into a Division III intercollegiate sport.

Chemistry major and women’s basketball team member Sarah Condra ’12 was one of 10 national female finalists for the Jostens Trophy. The trophy is awarded annually to a well-rounded Division III student-athlete who models “service above self.” Condra was Franklin’s first-ever finalist in the competition’s 15-year history.

March ’12
Franklin seniors majoring in business collectively placed in the top 11 percent of college groups nationwide who took the Major Field Test in business. Nearly 33,000 students at 438 colleges took the exam.

For the sixth consecutive year, Franklin College was named to the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll in recognition of its exemplary, innovative and effective community-service programs. It was the third consecutive year Franklin was named to the list with distinction.

National Peace Corps Association President Kevin F. Quigley made a four-day stopover at Franklin College through the Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellows program. He addressed 10 classes, participated in a panel discussion, gave a public lecture and did a radio interview to share information about peace as a global responsibility.

After raising $50,000 in private donations, the college qualified for an additional $50,000 in matching funds from the Allen Whitehill Clowes Charitable Foundation. The funds were put toward creating and endowing an artist-in-residence program, starting in January 2013.

April ’12
A team of seven students represented Franklin College at the National Model U.N. Conference in New York City. Team member Matt Brems ’13 brought home the Delegates’ Choice Award after nearly 300 peers nominated him for his outstanding representation of Somalia in the General Assembly.

May ’12
The Indiana Section of the Mathematical Association of America named Dan Callon ’77 recipient of the Award for Distinguished Teaching in Mathematical Sciences at the College Level. Callon was selected based on his accomplishments in classroom teaching, innovation, curriculum development, and service to the college and the mathematical community at-large.

Former president and vice chairman of the Indianapolis Colts football franchise William “Bill” P. Polian gave the Commencement address “Lessons Learned from Life.” He received an honorary doctorate of humane letters from Franklin.

June ’12
The Education Division again proved its commitment to providing an exemplary preparation program for future teachers. The division met the rigorous professional and public standards required for reaccreditation from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. NCATE currently accredits 670 U.S. institutions, which produce two-thirds of the nation’s new teachers annually.

July ’12
With donor leadership and generosity, Franklin College surpassed its 2011–12 Franklin Fund for Scholarships goal of $650,000, with a final total of $656,317 and more alumni donors than the previous fiscal year.

When it comes to operating Franklin College, there’s more than meets the eye.

A college is a small city, requiring everything from stores and eating establishments to a health clinic and trash collection. It takes more than 200 staff and 100 faculty members to help keep Franklin College running 24/7 for its approximately 1,000 students.

“It’s easy to take for granted all the work that takes place behind the scenes at Franklin College,” said President Jay Moseley. “But whether it’s cleaning tables in the student dining hall, removing snow from sidewalks, setting up recycling bins or updating content on a website, employees make an impact.”

“What the numbers — and more — add up to is Franklin College’s dedication to maintaining a high-quality campus experience that helps keep us competitive.”

Some interesting campus facts and figures help tell the story:

Warm welcome. For prospective students and their families, the Von Boll Welcome Center is often their first stop on campus. The Office of Admissions, located here, receives approximately 2,000 visits per year and provides 1,500 campus tours annually. With 14 friendly staff members and 25 enthusiastic Student Ambassadors, there’s always someone available to provide a warm welcome to guests.

Paper trail. The Office of Admissions receives approximately 1,900 applications for admission annually from high school hopefuls and transfer students seeking to become Grizzlies. Each application receives consideration, but the acceptance rate is 65 percent.

Body and spirit. Wellness is more than a buzzword, it’s a campus initiative. Annually, the college’s Wellness Coordinator is involved in planning approximately 60 workshops on fitness, nutrition and healthy lifestyle choices, all with the aim of encouraging students, faculty and staff to “be, go and do.” Wellness also is addressed by the college’s two full-time counselors, one registered nurse and five visiting physicians, who rotate staffing the campus health clinic.

Dishing it out. Sodexo serves about 20,000 portions of General Tso’s Chicken annually. The savory Chinese dish is the most frequently requested lunch item. It takes approximately 40 Sodexo employees to keep the dining hall running smoothly daily, while a rotating staff of four keep Jazzman’s, the campus coffee shop, running. Jazzman’s serves about 16,000 coffees, teas and smoothies each year.

Supply and demand. The college community uses more than 400 cases, or nearly 1,148 miles, of toilet paper per year. That’s enough paper to stretch from campus to Billings, Mont.! Over the course of one year, it takes approximately 400 gallons of paint to spruce up and maintain campus facilities and athletic fields.
Safety first. The college’s five full-time security officers spend approximately 6,570 hours annually patrolling campus, on foot, by golf cart and occasionally on a Segway. Additionally, five student-workers serve as security assistants, racking up more than 2,000 hours annually in patrol time. The Security Department also hires 15 to 20 student-workers to staff the information desk on the first floor of the Napolitan Student Center. Collectively, these students spend nearly 4,000 hours giving directions to campus guests and checking out recreational equipment to students.

Ring, ring... It’s not coming from pockets or purses, but from nearly 500 active telephones connected to the main campus system. There’s at least one traditional landline in every faculty and staff office, while many residence halls have just one phone per hallway since students rely heavily on their own cell phones.

Safety first. The college’s five full-time security officers spend approximately 6,570 hours annually patrolling campus, on foot, by golf cart and occasionally on a Segway. Additionally, five student-workers serve as security assistants, racking up more than 2,000 hours annually in patrol time. The Security Department also hires 15 to 20 student-workers to staff the information desk on the first floor of the Napolitan Student Center. Collectively, these students spend nearly 4,000 hours giving directions to campus guests and checking out recreational equipment to students.

Ring, ring... It’s not coming from pockets or purses, but from nearly 500 active telephones connected to the main campus system. There’s at least one traditional landline in every faculty and staff office, while many residence halls have just one phone per hallway since students rely heavily on their own cell phones.

Showing our pride. The Follett Bookstore, operating in the basement of the Napolitan Student Center, annually sells approximately 5,000 items branded with the college logo, colors or mascot. Go Grizzlies!

How we roll. The Franklin liberal arts experience often extends beyond the campus gates, with professors leading trips to Indianapolis for cultural events, student groups taking alternative spring break trips to perform service work in other states and coaches taking teams to dozens of other campuses for athletics competitions. To accommodate all our travelers’ needs, the college annually leases a fleet of 11 vehicles, mostly vans, each of which logs nearly 13,000 miles per year.

For the books. The B.F. Hamilton Library holds more than 100,000 books, about 300,000 microforms and more than 6,000 videos. The library also houses the college archives, including yearbooks dating back to the 1800s and the correspondence and other papers of Roger D. Branigin ’23, Indiana’s 42nd governor and a former Franklin College Trustee.

Can-do attitude. With an annual average of nearly 3,000 service requests, the Physical Plant has perhaps the most diverse range of duties of any campus staff. The Physical Plant oversees everything from mowing the campus grounds and clearing leaves and snow to replacing light bulbs and restocking residence halls with soap and toilet paper. The Physical Plant staff members also provide carpentry, electrical, heating/cooling, door/lock and other mechanical services.

Franklin College alumni have class year following bold name. Franklin College honorary degree recipients have award year in parentheses following name.
Peek behind the sunglasses, and you’ll discover there’s more to cover model Shaughnessy Harrigan ’15 than meets the eye. He’s the third in his family to attend Franklin College, following in the footsteps of his mother, Norma (Miller) Harrigan ’84, and sister, Ashley Harrigan ’11. This Dean’s List student majors in business/international relations and belongs to the men’s tennis and religious life teams. In addition to serving as a Student Ambassador for the Admissions Office, he’s a member of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. He’s just one of the students who make Franklin College first-rate. Keep turning the pages of this magazine to learn about other high-achieving members of the campus community.
